Fletcher and Merkle Also Make Circuit Clouts in Game at Polo Grounds

The 3,000 or so spectators who braved the inclement weather yesterday afternoon to journey to the Polo Grounds were well repaid. They saw one of the best ball games of the year, sparkling and scintillating play abounding as well as good pitching. Best of all, the Giants came through to victory after a hard fight. The final score was 5 to 2, and every run made in the contest was earned, a rather unusual thing in itself.

Fred Toney and Big Jim Vaughn, both pitchers of the burly type, despite the nasty weather pitched their best. A drizzle fell throughout the entire contest, which made the pitching duel the more remarkable, and, stranger still, not an error was made by either side.

Beating the Giants appears almost an impossibility for the Cubs this season. And Manager Mitchell seems to realize this. When the final put-out had been made he sadly strolled from his position on the third base coaching line toward the clubhouse, and shook his head as if to say, "It's no use." Vaughn had pitched every bit as well as Toney, the Cubs played good ball and yet they had to succumb.

Chase was directly responsible for the Giants' victory, as it was his homer in the seventh that put the locals in the lead. But if he won it, Fletcher and Doyle certainly saved the day by remarkable plays in the field, and Fletcher also batted out a home run which was a big factor in the victory.

Doyle's was the first startling play that brought the crowd to its feet. It came in the fourth, with two down. Hollocher was on second when Pick hit a liner toward right. Doyle essayed a throw but the ball was about to sail over his head and he leaped and snatched it, killing a two-bagger and preventing an otherwise sure tally.

In the very next inning Deal was on second and one out when Killifer drove one past Toney. Fletcher leaped from his position and nailed the sphere a few inches above ground and then easily doubled Deal at second.

The Giants scored the first run of the contest in the fifth. Kauff dumped a short hit into right. Zim, after twice failing in an attempt to sacrifice, singled to right, sending Kauff to third. Chase lifted to Flack for the first out.

Hollocher missed Chase. McCarty slapped a slow roller to the Cub shortstop hesitatingly, and then threw to first, Kauff scoring. The Hollocher could have started a double play on Zim and McCarty, but for some reason or other he failed to go through with it.

The locals added another in the next period. Burns opened with a hit, but was out trying to stretch it into a base hit. Pick, Young popped up to Killefer, and then Fletcher hit into the right field stands for a home run.

The Cubs opened fire on Toney in the seventh and batted out four hits, but were able to gather only two runs. Magee singled to center and came the rest of the distance when Merkle hit the same stand that Fletcher had scored two runs. Pick continued the bombardment with another safe drive, but was thrown out at second by Kauff trying to stretch the thing out.

The Cub shortstop hesitated, then threw to first, Kauff scoring. The Hollocher could have started a double play on Zim and McCarty, but for some reason or other he failed to go through with it.

Fohl Resigns; Speaker Will Pilot Indians

CLEVELAND, July 19.—Leo Fohl, manager of the Cleveland American League Baseball Club for the last three years, resigned as manager of the team today. The resignation was accepted by President James C. Dunn, who appointed Tris Speaker, outfielder, manager for the rest of the season.

Fohl's resignation, it is said, was because of dissatisfaction of the public with his management.

Cleveland Owner Will Retain Fohl As Scout or Coach

CLEVELAND, July 19.—In tendering his resignation as manager of the local American League team to President Dunn today, Fohl said:

"I feel that the fans are not for me, and as I have my interests at heart first and my own last I think it best for all concerned for me to step down and out. The team has a chance to win the pennant, and I don't want to appear in the light of a hindrance to them. I hope they will win the pennant."

Fohl will be retained on the payroll in some capacity, either as scout or scout, President Dunn said.

The unfortunate ending of yesterday's game with Boston, when Babe Ruth hit a home run with three on bases in the ninth inning, giving the Red Sox the game, 8 to 7, is said to have caused Fohl to resign. Fans who saw the game were bitter in their criticism of Fohl for picking Pletcher Coumbe, who had not pitched a game in two months, to pitch to Ruth, instead of one of the first-string throwers.

Heavy Hitting of Powell Wins Game for Braves

BOSTON, July 19.—Powell was the big individual factor in Boston's 2 to 1 victory over Pittsburgh to-day. His sacrifice fly, on which Southworth made a wonderful one-hand catch, taking from Powell what looked like a triple, tallied the winning run in the eighth and gave Boston the needed run.

A pass to Terry and hits by Southworth and Chase made the third game in the first. Powell also made a single and a triple.

Want Marathon Restored

A Canadian committee is keen on having the marathon race restored to the Olympic programme for next year. Perhaps they have found another Tom Longboat.

Four-Run Rally In Ninth Gives Game to Yanks

Bodie's Double Scores Winning Run, 9 to 8; Thorndahl Shuts Off Browns

ST. LOUIS, July 19.—The Yankees are beginning to exhibit signs of a come-back. To-day the New Yorkers showed the Westerners that they still possess the old fighting spirit and staged a rally in the ninth. This brilliant stand netted four runs and the ball game by a score of 9 to 8.

The visitors left to-night for Chicago in a better mood. They are convinced they have finally shaken the hoodoo that has been on their Western trail. To-day's game, played before a crowd of more than 10,000 fans, was an old-fashioned slugfest of the sandlot type. Neither team had any respect for the opposing pitchers.

George Mogridge and Urban Shooker received the opening assignments, but their stay on the mound was short-lived. Baker, in the first inning, hit into the bleachers for a homer. St. Louis in its half corralled two runs. Bronkie walked and Gedeon singled. Bronkie scored on Baker's muff of Vick's throw-in. Tobin bunted safely and Gedeon tallied on Sisler's out.

Mogridge Batted Out

The Yankees scored another in the second. Pratt beat out a hit and went to third on Shooker's wild heave, scoring on Bodie's single. The locals opened a heavy fusillade on Mogridge in the second, driving him off the hill and Schneider took his place. Pete was greeted by Tobin with a home run, scoring Bronkie, who had been in the smoke had cleared four runs had been checked up.

The New Yorkers made three runs in the sixth on singles by Lewis and Bodie and Wickland's double. Hannah's walk, Fewster's hit, the latter batting for Schneider, and Bronkie's wild throw.

Going into the ninth two runs to the bad, the Yanks began to immediately execute their brilliant rally. Ward, batting for McGraw, who had replaced Schneider on the mound in the sixth, doubled to left. Peck singled past Bronkie, sending Ward to third. Shooker was replaced by Gallia at this point.

Won in the Ninth

Pipp fouled to Sisler, but Baker singled to right, scoring Ward and sending Peck to second. Gallia threw out Lewis, Peck and Baker advancing. Pratt fouled to Sisler, but Baker singled to right, scoring Ward and sending Peck to second. Gallia threw out Lewis, Peck and Baker advancing.

Shawkey was on the mound when St. Louis took its last turn at bat. Baker threw out Seeverd for a starter. Demery, batting for McGraw, hit into the smoke had cleared four runs had been checked up.

Phillies Sweep Cardinal Series With Four in Row

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—Five St. Louis pitchers failed to keep Philadelphia from winning two games to-day, 8 to 1 and 4 to 3, making four straight victories for the tallenders.

Rain halted the first game for nearly an hour and a half during the third inning, and made the field a marsh. After play was resumed the Phillies knocked Doak out of the box and won in one big inning, scoring six runs.

St. Louis secured a lead in the second game by bunting hits with two wild throws in the second inning, but was unable to hold it.

May was to pieces in the fifth, when two bases on balls, a sacrifice and singles by Pauls and Mussel won for the locals. It rained hard during the sixth inning, after which Umpire Riger called the game on account of darkness.

The Glamour Is Great

When wallowing Casar moved down with precision Those tribes which swept some Roman revision, When Charlemagne swept to his zenith and stayed The monarch of all (for a time) he surveyed; When Bonaparte heeded ambition's low croon—"The glamour was gorgeous—but over so soon."

When Jeffries or Chance or Cornelius Mack Held sway, undisturbed, at the head of the pack; It seemed to the millions in fadom's mad mob That ruling the roost was their annual job; But each from his pinnacle waltzed to this tune—"That glamour was grand, but it's over so soon."

LESIE ALAN TAYLOR.

Mr. Leslie Alan Taylor has uttered what is quite frequently known as a complete mouthful.

As Champions

Heavyweight champions, after reaching the top, don't always draw the chance to exhibit their wares, as champions, in many ensuing rounds before they, too, get it just under the nook where the chin is worn.

After Jim Corbett had beaten Sullivan he fought just thirteen rounds before he lost to Bob Fitzsimmons. Corbett in 1894 knocked out Mitchell in three rounds and Courtney in six rounds. In 1896 he fought a four-round draw with Sharkey. Then came the deluge.

Fitzsimmons knocked out Corbett in 1897. His next registered battle as a champion was against Jim Jeffries in 1899, where he was deprived of his crown. No intermediate contests are on the records.

Jeffries Busier

Jeffries was one of the few champions who had a chance to carry on. After beating Fitzsimmons in 1899 Jeffries fought eighty-two rounds as champion before he retired and later lost to Johnson. Forty-eight of these rounds were against Tom Sharkey and Jim Corbett, not counting the second ten-round stand which Corbett made.

White Sox Defeat Walter Johnson in Eleven Innings, 6-5

CHICAGO, July 19.—Chicago evened up the series with Washington to-day, winning an exciting eleven-inning contest from Walter Johnson, 6 to 5.

Kerr, who replaced Sullivan, Chicago's recruit pitcher, in the fourth inning, scored the winning run on Eddie Collins' single after two were out. Sullivan's wildness and erratic fielding gave the visitors their runs.

Cadore Wins Pitching Duel From Reuther

Johnston's Hit With Bases Full After Reds Had One Run Decides Game

Lieutenant Leon Cadore extended his winning streak to five straight by scoring a twelve-inning decision for the Dodgers over the Cincinnati Reds at Ebbets Field yesterday afternoon. The final tally was 2 to 1, all of the run-making being crowded into the third overtime session. The result snapped the winning chain of Walter Reuther, after Pat Moran's boxman had compiled a record of nine straight.

The game was a pitching struggle between Cadore and Reuther, who lasted the entire distance. Considering weather conditions, these young stars hurled a truly remarkable contest. Reuther yielded nine hits and Cadore seven, and some of these safeties would never have been recorded on a dry field. The game was played on soggy soil, and it was raining when Jimmy Johnston's hit through short sent the Brooklyn runners home and ended the game.

Manager Robinson altered his lineup by putting Jimmy Hickman in right field in place of Tommy Griffith, and replacing Peter Kliduff at third with "Chuck" Ward, who returned from overseas several weeks ago. The change proved a winner, for it was Ward who inaugurated the decisive rally in the twelfth.

Daubert Starts Trouble

The eleventh victory of the Dodgers saved "Stretchy" Konetchy from the stigma of blame for another Brooklyn defeat. After two were out in the Cincinnati portion of the twelfth, Jake Daubert, who used to first base for Ebbets, soaked a triple to right center. Groh followed with a grounder to Olson, who made no attempt to head Daubert at the plate, but threw to Konetchy. Umpire McCormick, on the bases, motioned Groh out, but was forced to reverse the decision when Konetchy dropped the ball. The next batter was easily disposed of.

The Dodgers might have been willing to call it a day but for the importance of "Chuck" Ward, who called on his mates to push him around the bases if he got aboard. Chuck, however, died to Konach, Krueger singled and Grimes ran for him. Kliduff, batting for Cadore, coaxed a pass from Reuther. Olson dropped a Texas leaguer behind second base, and the baserunners were overstocked.

The rain was starting to come down and the fans called for quick action. Johnston supplied it by slashing a single through the pitcher's box and the ball galloped into center. Grimes and Kliduff patterned over the pan before Reuther's return reached the infield and Reuther was forced to break.

Pitchers Strong in Pinches

Each side had several opportunities to settle the issue in the regulation period. But the pitchers braced at critical moments and the batters were unable to get through. The rain-soaked plate. After Rath had lined to Johnston for the first out of the game a torrential rain threatened to put a stop to the game. The game was resumed after ten minutes and there was no sign of interruption until near the end.

Wingo was chased from the field of battle in the fourth. He disputed one of Umpire Harrison's decisions while Ward was at bat, and with two down he was ejected. The catcher was replaced by "Bill" Hardin, who promptly failed, flinging the bases, but Krueger tied to Rath for the third out. Sallee then was chased off the visitors' bench for loud talking.
